

Saving Officers Time in the Long Run: Factors that Contribute to Writing Proficiency in Law Enforcement Reports

Richard Segovia¹ and David Vacchi²

¹Liberty University

²Affiliation not available

January 02, 2020

Abstract

This essay is written from a career police officer's perspective and includes a literature review of police trade journals and scholarly articles related to police reports and written communication. The work also explores Yrjö Engeström's (1987) activity systems theory and shows how this theory is associated with the practice and modeling of police reports.

Hosted file

Saving Officers Time in the Long Run Final.docx available at <https://authorea.com/users/717930/articles/703305-saving-officers-time-in-the-long-run-factors-that-contribute-to-writing-proficiency-in-law-enforcement-reports>