

Facial features as character predictors: phenotypic approach testing

Vitalii Shymko¹

¹Pereyaslav-Khmelnytsky Hryhoriy Skovoroda State Pedagogical University

September 05, 2019

Abstract

This paper presents the results of testing the hypotheses concerning the connection between some phenotypic bodily features and such individual psychological characteristics as aggressiveness, impetuosity, pedantry, passivity, etc. In particular, studied the validity of using appropriate representations of phenotypology to predict respective character traits. The results obtained disprove the possibility of a direct use of the phenotypic approach for reliable characterological profiling.

Acknowledgements

We thank, Dr. Mikhail.Vigdorchik, Dr. Alexander Saphin, Dr. Anzhela Babadzhanova and Dr. Nataliia Kharchenko for practical assistance with empirical data collection and evaluation.

Hosted file

title_page.docx available at <https://authorea.com/users/718676/articles/704732-facial-features-as-character-predictors-phenotypic-approach-testing>

Hosted file

Facial features as character predictors (for preprint).docx available at <https://authorea.com/users/718676/articles/704732-facial-features-as-character-predictors-phenotypic-approach-testing>